Plotatorate CHANGES P. CHANGLER. Principles and Practice.

True democracy does not conceal its honest motives. The "greatest good of the greatest number" is one of the noblest motios that can be engraved on the escutcheon of a party. The Whigs advocate a change of anen because the administration seeks to advance only the interest of its officers, disregarding the went of the many. Locofocoism gained its ascendency by $1,500. alse professions, and fraudulent pretences. There is abundant evidence of this fact in the history of its chief partisons. How is it in this State? When the people see the hand writing a man and their signatures affixed to a paper setting forth their creed, it is to be supposed that they are honest and mean what they say. When Mr. Hunton was a candidate for Governor, James Bridge and nine others opposed his election and published a circular to the electors of the State. n which we find the following profession, viz: Most of us hold no offices and expect none, let the issue of the election be what it may and most of us have retired from the active scenes of political-life. This circular was signed by REURL WILLIAMS, now a Senator in Congress, and Asa REDINGTON, Jr. now Judge of the District Court. "WR EXPECTED NO OFFICE", said these federal locofochs, and yet they are fattening on the spoils.

THE NEXT CONGRESS THE SPEAKER The following suggestions rom the Washington Madisonian ought to be published in every opposition newspaper in the country. We can of imagine for a moment,

On Low Spirits Low spirits is a certainstate of the mind accompanied by indigestion wherein the greatest exils are apprelended upor the slightest grounds, and the worst consequences imagined furient werees supposed the disease to be confined to those particular regions of the abdomen technically called his pochondria which are si uated on the right or left side of that cavity, whence comes the same hypochonderses.

SYMPTOMS The common cornered symptoms are flatulency in the stomach orbowels, acrid eructations custing ness spa-modic pains guidiness damness of sight palpitations, and often an otter in ability of fixing the attention upon any subject of importance or engaging in any thing that demands vigor or courage. Also languidness, the mind be comes irritalde, thoughtful desponding melancholy and dejected accompanied with a total derangement of the nervous system. The mental feelings and peculiar from of ideas that haunt the imagina tion and overwhelm the judgment exhibitan infinite diversity. The wisest and best of men are as open to this affliction as the weakest
